Salt Lake City – The University of XXX College of Nursing will hold a 30-minute live and webcast news conference to educate the public on their building expansion and renovation. A three-person panel representing the University Administration, the College Administration and a student will offer their insights and will be available for questions.

WHAT: A news conference following the 9:00 a.m. groundbreaking ceremony for University of XXX College of Nursing building renovation and expansion. The news conference will be webcasted live on <http://www.webcast.nurs.OurCollege.edu>.

WHEN: Wednesday, January 14, 2008
10:00 a.m. – 10:30 a. m.

WHERE: University of XXX
College of Nursing, Room 106
OurCity, ST 94904

WHO: Dr. Charles Frye, University of XXX Senior VP of Health Sciences
Dr. Charlotte Martini, University of XXX Dean of the College of Nursing
Atsuko Watanabe, University of XXX College of Nursing Student

WHY: The University of XXX's College of Nursing is expanding! Updates and additions to the 40-year old structure will include offices, distance and on-site learning centers, a simulation center and an auditorium. Dr. Charles Frye, who has also served as interim president of the University, is currently guiding several Health Sciences projects at the University. Come learn how these are related to the community's well-being. Dean Charlotte Martini will give inside details on the project planning as well as her vision how the renovation will benefit the faculty, students and staff. Atsuko Watanabe will be a member of the first class to graduate from the new building and will give a student's perspective.
